ST. LOUIS ROYALLY WELCOMES WILSON

EXPECTED TO TAKE SOME ACTION TODAY TO PREVENT STRIKE IN STEEL INDUSTRY

Amid Festivities Telegram From Gompers Urges Executive to Act at Once.

MAY URGE WORKERS TO REMAIN ON JOBS

2,000 People Attend Luncheon Given in Honor of the Presidential Party.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 5.—Declaring that when the people of the United States "understand the treaty of Versailles" they will demand its immediate ratification, President Wilson continued this afternoon what he has termed his "campaign of education" on the subject. As the guest of the St. Louis chamber of commerce in his honor, the President made another speech with the treaty as a whole as his chief topic. He declared the treaty is "the only hope of the smaller nations of the world" and that it will, when ratified by all the nations, "prevent future wars."

The President again declared that the people had not had the treaty "truly presented" to them. He insisted that he desired only to report on his stewardship.

(By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN.)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 5.—President and Mrs. Wilson spent a very pleasant day in St. Louis. Partisanship was forgotten in the Mound City and both Republicans and Democrats united to bid the Chief Executive and his wife welcome. The city streets were crowded while the majority of the buildings were bedecked with flags and bunting.

"It touches my heart," said the President to the reception committee upon the arrival at the hotel.

Mrs. Wilson was even a greater attraction today than the President. It was expected today that the President would take some action in the pending strike in the steel industry before leaving St. Louis. The telegram from the sub-committee of the American Federation of Labor, asking him to intervene to secure recognition of their claims by Judge E. H. Gary was placed in his hands during the morning.

It is believed the President will urge the workers to remain at their posts until after he returns to Washington and can give his personal attention to the problem. It was stated the President at his luncheon speech this afternoon and in his address to-night will elaborate on his declaration last night that the opponents of the treaty of Versailles either suggest a real substitute or drop their opposition. To all of his callers today, the President declared he had not the slightest doubt of the outcome.

He believes there will be a complete defeat of all amendments and that whatever reservations are adopted will be of a nature so as to not necessitate sending the treaty back to other nations to ratify such reservations.

A luncheon began at 12:30 o'clock and more than 2,000 were present. The presidential party slept late and it was well after eight o'clock before President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson had breakfast. The President left his car at 9:00 and entered a flag-bedecked automobile and headed a procession through the chief residential sections.

(By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN.)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 5.—Admittedly highly pleased with his reception at Indianapolis last night, President Wilson came to St. Louis today to carry on his fight to align public sentiment in favor of the treaty of Versailles. The President's special train reached St. Louis shortly after 4 o'clock this morning but was shunted to a siding in the park section so the executive could enjoy a few hours sleep.

The schedule today called for two speeches here. It was plain that the

COMMITTEES TO BE APPOINTED TO HEAR COMPLAINTS

Several merchants and consumers met with the Morgan county food board in the rooms of the Albany Board of Commerce last night when the first steps were taken by the board to cut the high cost of living in Morgan county.

The meeting discussed the general points of the campaign to be waged and its power to lower prices. It was finally decided to perfect the organization of four committees on shoes, clothing, dry-goods and food stuffs, to investigate all complaints of consumers and hear the evidence of both the consumer and the merchant, then report to the body as a whole. The committees will consist of three citizens on each and will be named by W. B. Edmundson, county food administrator.

The food administration itself has no authority to lower or increase prices on any article, it is stated, but after investigation of any charges that may be brought before it, will report such charges and the findings of the board to the Attorney General's department for action.

The meeting last night discussed a plan suggested that the committees visit stores and ascertain the prices charged, but it was agreed that such action would be presumptive and the committees will await complaints of consumers.

Five Mexicans Held on Murder Charge

(International News Service.)

LADERO, Sept. 5.—Two Mexican officers and two private soldiers, all of Carranza's army, have been arrested near Tampico and formally charged with the murder last June of John Carroll, an American citizen.

President would reply sharply to Senator Reed, of Missouri, who has been campaigning throughout this country in opposition to the treaty. The experiences in Indianapolis last night when the President called on opponents of the treaty to put up a better plan or "shut up" were most pleasing.

COMMITTEE ASKS ACTION TO PREVENT STEEL STRIKE

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—President Wilson today was expected to give his "prompt attention" to the steel issue in an attempt to prevent a general strike in that industry. In a telegram sent to the Chief Executive at St. Louis, the sub-committee charged with securing a conference with E. H. Gary, head of the U. S. Steel corporation stated that "we cannot now affirm how much longer we shall be able to prevail upon the men not to engage in a general strike. If the men can no longer be restrained it is impossible to foretell what the future holds in store."

The telegram set forth that the steel men "rely upon their case as it was presented to you last week and your earnest declaration to bring about a conference to attempt adjustment of the controversy."

The telegram to the President was signed by Samuel Gompers, John Fitzpatrick, B. J. Davis, William Hannon and Edward J. Evans.

PRESIDENT'S DECLARATION AROUSES IRE OF SHERMAN

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—"Public officials have been impeached for less," Senator Sherman declared in the senate this afternoon referring to President Wilson's declaration in Columbus yesterday that the labor conference provided by the Treaty of Versailles will be called whether the treaty is ratified or not.

"It is an appeal to the lawless," declared Senator Sherman. "The treaty making power of the United States is not entirely vested in the President but is a joint exercise of power by both the executive and the senate."

(International News Service.)

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The German government has replied to the amendment note of the peace conference protesting against a clause of the German constitution providing for Austrian representation in the Reichstag by saying "Germany is unable to maintain her attitude on this question," said a Berlin dispatch. The German government points out that there is no necessity to amend the constitution and says furthermore "if the allies extend their occupation of Germany this step will be regarded as a deplorable act of violence."

FIVE AMENDMENTS TO U. S. INSURANCE LAWS PROPOSED TO AID WAR VETERANS

Will Be Discussed at Next Meeting of the American Legion.

FOUR NOW PENDING BEFORE THE HOUSE

Fifth is Urged by National Organization of Former Fighting Men.

Four amendments to the existing war risk insurance laws, of far reaching importance to all men who served in the army, navy or marine corps, now before congress, will be taken up by the Morgan county post of the American Legion at its next regular meeting, it was stated today. A fifth amendment, providing for the payment in lump sums of term and well as converted insurance, which is being urged by the national organization of veterans, also will be discussed and it is probable that both proposals will be endorsed.

The following are the amendments, contained in the Sweet bill: (1) An increase in the period of automatic insurance. (This amendment automatically insures any person who entered the service prior to November 11, 1918, for 120 days after entrance in the active service.)

(2) An increase in the basis of awards in compensation cases to $65, when disability is total and temporary, and to $100, when the disability is total and permanent.

(3) An increase in the class of beneficiaries of insurance to include uncles, aunts, nieces, nephews, brothers-in-law, sisters-in-law, and persons in loco parentis.

(4) The payment of converted insurance, at the election of the insured, either in one lump sum, or in 36 or more installments.

(5) To permit lump sum payments for term insurance as well as for converted insurance, and to place term insurance exactly on the same basis, as to payments, as converted insurance, thus enabling a man who cannot now afford to convert his insurance to have the same advantage as the man who is able to immediately convert.

KILBY WILL OFFER AMENDMENTS FOR REVENUE MEASURE

(International News Service.)

MONTGOMERY, Sept. 5.—The senate today voted to take from the adverse calendar the bill of Senator Phillips, calling for a constitutional convention beginning in January 1921 and appealed to the house for concurrence in the senate amendment to the general revenue bill.

Speaker Merritt gave out correspondence with Governor Kilby in which the Governor is pledged to submit amendments to the bill, eliminating features of the taxing machinery voted down by the house, in hearing appeals from the decision of the tax supervisor to the commission, court and also eliminating from the bill all exemptions for water power, ship building and nitrate plants. Nineteen senators are pledged by letter to Speaker Merritt to accept the amendment which the Governor says he will advocate if the house passes the bill.

When the second conference committee notifies the legislature that they cannot come to an agreement on the bill a warm fight was precipitated in the lower house and Representative Oakley of Wilcox charged Lieut. Gov. Miller with "stacking" the senate conference committee against the coal and iron interests of the state.

BETTER BUSINESS SITUATION FOUND IN NATION, BOARD DECLARES TODAY

Movement Toward Lower Prices in Progress U. S. Agents Say.

AGRICULTURE IS LESS FAVORABLE, HOWEVER

Transportation Difficulties and Labor Shortage Are Hampering Some Industries

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A movement toward lower prices seems to be in progress and there is the feeling throughout the country that a satisfactory solution of the price and wage problem will be reached, according to a report on the business and financial conditions for August made public by the Federal Reserve board today.

The actual volume of business transacted continues at an extremely high level for this season of the year, agents of the board found, although transportation difficulties and shortage of labor have been hampering factors in certain lines.

On the whole agriculture was "found distinctly less favorable than it was a month ago." The general business situation, while presenting some disquieting features is, however, at "bottom strong."

LAST THING LABOR SEEKS IN STRIKE, STONE SAYS

Addressing the manufacturing and employment managers of the chamber of commerce here, Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the brotherhood of locomotive engineers made this declaration while speaking on "What is the matter with Labor." The high cost of living is the "matter," declared Mr. Stone.

Urges Purchase of Thrift Stamps

(International News Service.)

BONDS can make no better use of the interest payment they will receive on September 15th than to turn it into Thrift and War Savings Stamps," E. C. Steele, Cashier of the Belle Mina Bank, said today.

"By doing so, they can make their interest keep on making more interest for them and their dollars will be doing double duty."

"There were more than one million subscribers to the Third Liberty Loan in the Sixth Federal Reserve District. Each one of these will reap an interest crop on September 15th. By sowing it back into War Savings Stamps, that interest is kept growing. If occasion arises and you need what you have invested, War Savings Stamps are always redeemable at the post office on ten days' written notice."

"The Treasury Department is urging that all persons who possibly can re-invest their interest coupons in Thrift and War Savings Stamps. Third Liberty Loan Bond Coupons may be exchanged for Thrift and War Savings Stamps at this bank or at the Post Office, and at W. S. S. Agencies."

The resolution of ratification, embodying four reservations and with Republican senators in control of the committee, assisted by Senator Shields, Democrat of Tennessee, will accompany the document and the report. Several days probably will be occupied by Lodge in preparing the report. Not later than week after next a finish fight over the treaty is expected.

WILSON FIRES OPENING GUN FOR RATIFICATION

If there ever were those who doubted that President Wilson would be able to successfully defend the Treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations from the assaults that have been launched against it by its opponents, that doubt surely has been dispelled by the Chief Executive's Columbus and Indianapolis addresses.

The President at Columbus voiced the sentiment of millions when he said:

"I am astonished at some of the speeches made. They carry statements not facts."

The Republican senators, including also that super-politician of mixed texture, one James A. Reed, stripped of their masks, stand challenged by the President as to their veracity. In simple English he told his hearers of what the treaty means to America and of what the league will mean for the peace of the world.

He did not hold the league up as an instrument without defects, but he did declare in no uncertain language that it is meant to prevent war. That simple fact alone should be enough to make the G. O. P. representatives in the senate forget for a time that it was sent them by a Democrat and ratify it.

During the days that American soldiers and marines occupied trenches in France and American seamen gave their lives to keep the seas open—then did Lodge, Borah, Reed et al raise their voices against the League of Nations, which already had been proposed as one of the conditions of peace? No. 'A thousand times No!'

And it would be well to bear in mind further that not one of those citizens who are dignified by wearing the senatorial toga belonged to either the forces who occupied the trenches or fought on the seas. Sitting behind their senatorial desks, they saw the price of peace paid by the blood of their fellow Americans and now they wish to cheat the victors of the fruits of the victory.

Can you who fought, you who bought Liberty bonds, you who helped the Red Cross and you who did a thousand other things to aid this nation defeat the Hun, can you stifle your indignation at a member of the United States senate opposing ratification of the Treaty of Versailles as being "hard and unjust" to Germany? The opposition to the league and the treaty has reached that stage as press dispatches of the past few days will bear testimony.

The President yesterday reminded his hearers that when the flower of American manhood was taken to fight the war, the nation promised that the object would be to end all war.

The President sounded a solemn warning to the United States when he said:

"This is what the league of nations is for," said the President. "The league of nations is based on the experiences of the present war. Germany never would have entered this war if she had known that Britain and the United States would enter it. When you are told that the league is for any purpose but to prevent war, tell them that it is not so. Unless there is a league of nations a most ambitious nation will be ready to attempt aggression, the moment the world has recovered."

In the face of what our own common sense tells us, in the face of what our own experience warns us, how can the Senate do other than ratify the document brought to it by the President of the United States? The nation looks askance at that little group of senators at Washington who prefer to play their political fiddle while the world is consumed with the fires of unrest and uncertainty.

Voice of the People

Editor Albany-Decatur Daily:

I have just read in the Daily, where a Senator from Cullman county has amended the Lynne Bill. This bill was drawn primarily to allow the consolidation of Albany and Decatur, but as the Daily says, we "must vote" on consolidation "within ninety days" after the bill is passed. In the first place, it looks funny to me why a Senator from another district should have meddled with the bill. There was Brother Smith of Town Creek, who should have been asked to amend the bill, if it was needed. But perhaps Senator Smith did not wish to do so. As amended the usefulness of the bill is lessened, and it was the intention of other closely located cities like Gadsden, Attalla, and Alabama City, to use the bill as first passed by Mr. Lynne. Now it may not suit their convenience to an election as soon as ninety days after the amended bill was passed. And it may not suit the voters of these cities to vote within ninety days either. And here is just the milk in the coconut.

Those who sought in vain to entirely deprive our people of a vote on consolidation, are now seeking to limit our divine right to vote when we please and as often as we please.

I believe that this effort will anger both the opponents and the friends of consolidation, for in this new move is seen a "higher up" effort of some body to meddle with our local right to vote when and as we please on any subject.

Will the framers of this new amendment made by a man of another district kindly explain just how the new amendment will help the usefulness of the Lynne bill one bit? The other minor amendment mentioned in the Daily, requiring only 10% of the voters—we do not need this as we can get all the signatures we are looking for to sign for a vote on consolidation. Unless a satisfactory explanation is forthcoming, your people will consider that still another effort has been made to hinder the development of this community by special interests. We were called on Labor Day by a representative of the farmers Union, that the workers would cooperate with them more closely until we get a large town here, so we can have large enough markets to take care of their farm products, how can we cooperate? And how can two towns torn asunder with dissensions and attempts at dissension, cooperate with our farmers or any body else? Because the new amendments cannot possibly help the bill and because, they are plain attempts to LIMIT the right of us all to vote, I think they were gotten up only to cause trouble. Of course the makers of the amendments may explain them, in such a way that I may see it different, and I hope they will, if they can.

Yours truly,

Temperature of Leaves.

Some recent investigation of the temperature of leaves made in the deserts and mountains of Arizona and in the Santa Lucia mountains of California have resulted in the discovery that leaves show a very rapid change of temperature at times. These fluctuations are almost constantly going on. Changes of from 1 to 3 degrees centigrade were noted. In from twenty to sixty seconds, and if a moderately strong wind is blowing the change may amount to 5 degrees in thirty seconds.

Worst Enemy of Birds.

The great horned owl is the worst of the owl family as a destroyer of game and poultry. He even extends his depredations to rabbits and other fur-bearing animals, and if he discovers the sleeping place of a covey of quail he will clean them up to the last bird.

OPERA SUCCEEDS BULL FIGHT

Famous Arena in Mexico City Will No Longer Be Scene of Brutal Slaughter.

The Teatro el Toro in Mexico City, once one of the most pretentious of bull fight arenas, is now the home of grand opera as a result of President Carranza's decree that bull fights should cease. Interpersing grand opera, dancers and concert artists have appeared in the arena, and it is stated that these various forms of amusement will be offered until some definite action is taken as to the future of bull fighting.

It was in this arena that what is said to be one of the most remarkable spectacles in the history of the sport was staged. A bull, El Bonito, known as one of the fiercest fighters, on being brought into the arena charged and killed three horses and injured a many men without being touched by the estocque of any matador.

As the bull stood bellowing defiance and with no one apparently willing to attack him, a small Ballo, a picador who was a spectator in one of the boxes, leaped unarmored into the enclosure. In his outstretched hand he carried two jumps of sugar, which he nonchalantly offered to the bull. The animal suddenly ceased its bellowing and in a few moments docilely licked the sugar from Ballo's hand. The latter returned unharmed to his box.

Looking for Cat.

Little Paul, age seven, and his aunt were playing with the cat when it ran under the buffet. Stooping down his aunt said: "I can see only his hind quarters." Paul ran to the other end of the buffet and looking under exclaimed: "Oh, I can see its head quarters."

SPRINGFIELD MAN GIVES TESTIMONY

LANGFORD DECLARES TRUTONA BEST MEDICINE HE'S EVER TAKEN.

SPRINGFIELD, Tenn., Sept. 5.—Practically everyone in Springfield knows, likes and esteems Mat Langford, foreman of the composing room of the Herald-News. Mr. Langford has lived in Springfield all of his life and he is well known and highly respected by everyone in this vicinity. He has the following to say of Trutona:

"For the past seven or eight years I have been bothered with constipation. I had a poor appetite, too, and was often suffering from pains in my back. My liver caused me a lot of trouble, too.

"Although I've taken Trutona only a few days I know it is the best medicine I've ever taken. The relief I've gotten from the constipation has been truly wonderful. I have a better appetite, too, and thoroughly enjoy my meals. I rest better at night, also. As I said, I believe Trutona is the best medicine I've ever taken and I can highly recommend it to others. I'm sure they will derive a wonderful lot of benefit from a bottle of the tonic."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Decatur by Decatur Drug Co., and in Albany by Preut-Dillehay Drug Co.—Advertisement.

What He Really Wanted.

Little Lowell had been wanting a goat. His father had promised to get one for him. When the new baby came and the doctor showed the little bundle to Lowell and said: "This is your new sister, my son; what do you think of her?" Lowell looked at the baby seriously, then replied: "Well, I'd like her better if she wuz a goat."

ALAS! FOR HUMAN FRAILTY

City Editor Was First Victim of His Own Stern Warning Against the "Booze."

Speaking of booze: A few years ago, when Colorado was as wet as the great Sahara is not, the city editor of a Denver daily was having no inconsiderable trouble in getting out a newspaper the day following each pay night. Finally, in desperation, he issued the following mimeographed letter for distribution to members of the staff:

"Any member of this staff who is found under the influence of liquor, or with any indication of having been drinking during working hours, will be: Fined for the first misdemeanor; suspended for the second; fired unconditionally for the third."

These mimeographed letters were placed on the copy boy's desk with instructions to distribute them as soon as the staff appeared for work the next afternoon.

On the following afternoon there was heard a snort from the office of the society editor, and a usually meek little red-haired beauty came dashing out of her room.

"Where's the city editor?" she demanded. "I'll see why I have to be insulted like this."

"The editor tried to calm her. But nothing would do but that she see the city editor himself."

"Well," said the A. C. E., "it can't be done. He was stowed and we had to send him home."

Needless to say, there was a new city editor the next afternoon, and the staff gleefully drank its way to the days of prohibition.—Lorry A. Jacobs, the Dallas Dispatch, in "Pep."

Natural Question.

Esther is an inquisitive little girl. One day I took her for a walk and every time we met anyone she would ask who it was. We were just passing a large apartment when a man drove up in a car. Esther immediately asked: "Who is that, Aunt Catherine? Is that the doctor?" I told her that it was. Then she said: "Who is he going to fix?"—Chicago Tribune.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS

Big Independent Packer Says Wholesale Grocers Are Logical Food Distributors

By C. E. MARTIN,
President of Acme Packing Company,
Chicago

The president of a powerful corporation is quoted as having remarked: "I retain the services of Mr. X. . . . because he is the only lawyer who seems able to tell me what I CAN do—instead of what I CANNOT do—despite the LAW."

Laws are often misinterpreted and evaded. People can often get away from the law. Furthermore, law is changeable.

On the other hand, FACTS are NOT changeable—FACTS cannot be misinterpreted—and nobody can get away from FACTS.

Our statutes are based on legal grounds—FACTS are founded on MORAL principle. Both should be respected but when there is doubt as to a legal obligation, we should solve the problem by our moral duty—for, then the solution will be right and just.

That's why, instead of turning to Blackstone for an interpretation of the LAW, I have turned to Webster for a definition of FACTS.

So, as in Webster's International Dictionary, I look up the meaning of the word "MONOPOLY," I find as follows:

"The exclusive right, privilege, or power of selling or purchasing a given commodity in a given market; exclusive control of supply of any commodity or service in a given market . . . as enables the one having such control to raise the price of a commodity or service materially above the price fixed by free competition."

Webster, furthermore, says:

"Exclusive control of traffic constitutes a monopoly in the economic sense whether acquired by state grant, as in the case of patents or copyright, which are statutory exceptions to the common law rule, making monopolies illegal, by control of sources of supply . . . as in case of cornering the market by combination or concert of action, or by any other means."

As I look further in Webster's Dictionary, I read:

"ALTRUISM is an ethical term which is often used in economic discussions . . . the functions of Government, and general questions of distribution. ALTRUISM is the opposite of individualism or egotism, and embraces those moral motives which induce a man to regard the interest of others."

And, finally, in Webster, I see INDIVIDUALISM, defined thusly:

"INDIVIDUALISM: Self-interest; selfishness; egotism."

So, not only on a basis of law, but primarily on the principle of FACT, as gleaned from Webster's International Dictionary, I hereby submit my views that it is founded on economic justice and soundness that the broad and competitive distribution of the foodstuffs of America, by a great number of wholesale grocers, will bring, through the retail grocers, to the ultimate consumer, at a lower cost, the food supply of the nation, than if the food traffic is controlled by a monopoly.

Does it not seem clear to every intelligent person that the wholesale grocers of America are the logical and most economical distributors of the foodstuffs of the nation? for, as indicated by Webster's definitions of "MONOPOLY," "ALTRUISM," and "INDIVIDUALISM," respectively, a MONOPOLIST is an INDIVIDUALIST, and cannot be an ALTRUIST—for, "INDIVIDUALISM" which means selfishness is the opposite of "ALTRUISM," which as Webster's quotation above state, "is the opposite of INDIVIDUALISM" and embraces those moral motives which induce a man to regard the interest of others."

To control the food supply of a nation means to corner the market in the necessities of life and to stifle free competition. No person, with even a fair degree of intelligence, could possibly construe an attempt to corner the food supply, to be prompted by "moral motives which induce a man to regard the interests of others."

We are now in an era of economic reconstruction—and the American people are not going to allow a food monopoly to exist—for ALTRUISM, and not INDIVIDUALISM, is the basis of American ideals.

For a monopoly to gain control of the food supply would be the throttling and the death knell of free competition. We all know that competition is the LIFE of trade—and to destroy that LIFE would place in the hands of a monopoly the power to gouge and starve the people—and that would cause ANARCHY—and a bloody revolution. However, that will never be—because, speaking of Food Monopolists, the American people will, in stentorian tones, re-echo Joffre's immortal words: "They shall not pass."

Our boys who have fought, bled and died on the battlefields of France have, with the soldiers of our valiant allies, crushed and destroyed a political autocracy. They have made the world safe for democracy.

If a monopoly were to gain control of the nation's food supply, it would mean an equally reprehensible autocracy, by which the American people could be placed into ECONOMIC slavery—but the "eggs will be crushed before the danger is hatched."

Free competition in our industries shall live and be fostered. Economic autocracy is sentenced to death.

The wholesale grocers of the United States are doing business on democratic principles—they are a rightful and logical factor in the distributive system of foodstuffs—and they will survive.

India rubber was used for the first time as an eraser in 1770, when a very small piece was sold for three marks. It was, however, many years later before it was put into general use. Prior to this the crumb of bread was used for erasing purposes.

Some Remarkable Shooting.

A play was being given by a group of soldiers, the hero of which was to shoot his way through a row of bottles standing on a shelf, while another soldier, well concealed, was to break each bottle in turn with the point of his bayonet, thus pretending that the hero was shooting the bottles. Through some misunderstanding the hero started shooting at the wrong end of the row, while at the other end the bottles were being broken.

Out of Sight.

If there ever was a fool-killer he must have retired from business.—Chicago News.

Nostalgia.

A young Swedish girl was very homesick. "You ought to be contented, and not fret for your old home," said her mother, as she looked at the dim eyes of the girl. "You are earning good wages, your work is light, every one is kind to you, and you have plenty of friends here." "Yes, ma'am," said the girl. "But it is not the place where I do be that makes me vera homesick; it is the place where I don't be."

Ride in an Essex

Sure way to know that this light weight car performs like and has the endurance of larger costly cars. Everyone says so

Then Talk to an Owner

Low Operating Cost Fine Car Luxury

Americans have willingly paid the cost for performance and riding luxury—for fineness and distinction, as found only in larger cars. They accepted the high cost for operation and maintenance. Cars which cost little to operate did not meet their requirements in performance and endurance. They lacked the stamp of refinement and quality they demanded. So they had but two choices—the large costly American car or the small and very high priced imported automobile.

How well the Essex meets that need is seen by the type of Essex users. Thousands never before operated so small a car, and abroad where the Essex has also made such headway, owners accept it because it matches in quality and economy of operation the European cars they had previously used.

The Essex is appreciated greater in those countries where gasoline, oil and tires cost the most.

Make Reliability Your Standard

Essex appeal to pride is evident at a glance. Its performance is demonstrated in a short ride. Endurance and reliability can be appreciated in long service.

For that ask an Essex Owner. Remember that the way a car will serve you is not indicated altogether by its weight, size or price.

Essex quality at its price is possible only because of its size. You do not pay for useless weight. And you sacrifice nothing in comfort though you gain much in the lower cost to buy and operate an Essex.

This is to urge a severe test of Essex performance. If you haven't had a ride that reveals its power, speed, acceleration, and comfort, come let us take you for such a demonstration.

It Has Quality At Low Price

Regard the Essex in the light of its performance. It isn't fair to think of it merely as a light weight car, when you consider the quality of its materials or what it does.

Every owner compares his Essex to the performance of large costly cars. Haven't you noticed how everyone speaks of Essex performance?

And now they include praise of Essex reliability. They tell you how their car calls for no tinkering. Anyone who can handle a wrench can keep the Essex in sweet running condition.

Its reliability comes from the sturdiness of its construction. Particular motorists abhor squeaks and rattles. An unusually strong and stiff frame minimizes such possibilities in the Essex.

Note How the Essex Was Developed.

Its motor is not like the motor used in any other car. The Essex is not made up of stock parts available to any assembler. Every item was designed and is built exclusively for Essex in the plant and by the same type of workmen who produce the largest selling fine cars in the world.

The Essex was not developed by a substitution of new units for an old model as a house is enlarged and remodeled. Every detail was designed with relation to its use in the Essex in connection with the type and character of every other detail in the car. Consequently it is properly balanced.

BOLSHEVIK MURDER LEAGUE IS UNCOVERED IN SWEDEN. YOUNG BEAUTY LURES LOVERS TO DEATH

(International News Service.)
LONDON, Sept. 5.—None of the most lurid elements of sensational melodrama are missing from the astounding story of the murder of Ardashoff, the supposed Bolshevik but really anti-Bolshevik agent at Stockholm, says the London Telegraph.

Hopeless love and abandoned profligacy, crazy adventures and treacherous schemes, plot and counter-plot culminating in torture and murder—all the sinister accessories are heaped round his body.

Despite the fact that Russians and Swedes have never been other than avowed and fierce enemies, when Petrograd became a shambles thousands of Russians, mostly of the upper social stratum, fled across to Stockholm and settled down in the neighborhood of the Swedish capital and in the city itself.

In the course of time this watching and waiting colony gained influence, so much so that Lenin and Trotsky determined that its ramifications should be put an end to. The colony, so to speak, was a pistol pointed at the head of Bolshevik Russia. Especially should its leader, Dr. Ardashoff, a brilliant lawyer, be removed.

So the Bolsheviks commenced operations by introducing agents, posing as anti-Bolshevik community.

The first Bolshevik agent to be sent across to Sweden was a Cossack colonel named Hadji-Lashet. This was a year ago. Hadji-Lashet, the refugee, outwardly developed into a virulent anti-Bolshevik and started a newspaper in Stockholm attacking Lenin.

The doctor was susceptible to female charms. Hadji-Lashet knew that. A girl decoy must be found. Hadji-Lashet settled on Dagmar de Gysser, a pretty, typical Russian girl of advanced years, who amokes all day long.

One day toward the end of June Dagmar called, on some pretext or other, at the doctor's flat. Then she called again and again. Things were going well. The doctor soon dropped in favor of Dagmar an acquaintance he had formed with a Swedish girl. Midsummer's Day is a great festival here in Sweden. On that day Dagmar arrived at the doctor's flat in a black motor car. She explained it was her brother's. They went away in it for the day.

Henceforward the black car was to play an ever-growing part in the drama. People recall now how they would be dining or supping with the doctor when a black car would arrive outside, piloted by one of the de Gysser brothers. Sometimes the doctor would leave his guests on an urgent excuse; on other occasions he would tell his maid Vendla to order the chauffeur to drive away. Ardashoff's inability to resist the temptation of the black car, to forbear from driving off in it to meet Dagmar de Gysser at some secret rendezvous, led to his undoing.

Ardashoff's last ride in the black motor car was to Hadji-Lashet's villa on the island of Bollstana. On arrival he was bound with rope, chained to the wall of the drawing room, and left alone for twenty-six hours without food or water.

On July 3, the day before Ardashoff's death, his housekeeper was lured away by a bogus message and his flat was rifled.

On the midnight of the day following his arrest a "court-martial" of twenty assembled in the room, with the bound and enfeebled Ardashoff in the centre protesting his innocence.

The trial was brief. The prisoner was found guilty of treason and sentenced to death "on behalf of the red tribunal." Then in crept sordid finance. Hadji-Lashet announced that if the doctor would sign several blank checks his life would be spared. The doomed man did so. Then the American, Lehrs, blindfolded and gagged him, while Hadji-Lashet put a rope around his neck from behind and slowly strangled him.

The court rose, the body was placed in a weighted sack, put in a boat and rowed out on to the lake. Here it was dropped in.

Dagmar, the daughter of General de Gysser, was among those present at the court-martial. She is stated to have been at one time in love with Ardashoff, but now, smoking calmly, she watched him being slowly strangled.

It is believed that the whole of the de Gysser family were genuine anti-Bolsheviks. One-third of the members of this court are supposed to have been adventurers out for money and the remainder to have been genuine fanatics.

Between July 3 and July 7 four checks—those signed by Ardashoff—were presented at Stockholm banks and 20,000 kroner drawn.

General de Gysser, his sons and daughter were arrested as accomplices in the murder, and among the others is a young Russian naval officer, Lieutenant Bittenbinder, son of an admiral, who was arrested when endeavoring to flee to Denmark.

But there are other murders to clear up. Three bodies, tied in weighted sacks, have been found.

The Maliciously Inclined.
Malicious people are of two types—the actively malicious and the passively malicious. Between the two there is a difference not of kind but merely of degree. The actively malicious are people who delight in belittling and injuring others, whether by petty gossip or outright slander. The passively malicious find a strange pleasure in hearing of anything that is to the discredit of other people.

FOR TWO YEARS HE HAD A BAD STOMACH

ANNISTON MAN RELATES HOW THE SYSTEM TONIC, DRECO HAS ENTIRELY RELIEVED HIM

That the stomach is responsible for ninety per cent of all the diseases that human flesh is heir to, is generally conceded by the medical profession. When we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for liver, kidney and bladder troubles, we appreciate the importance of any agent that will correct its harmful influence.

Dreco is proving that it is a true specific for all cases of stomach trouble. It exercises the greatest restorative effect on the liver and kidneys and rheumatism. That this is the logical effect of Dreco is proven by the testimonials of well known people who have regained their health by the use of this preparation.

For instance: Mr. A. T. Varco, the well known resident of South Anniston, Ala., who says:

"For over two years I have been troubled with my stomach, liver and kidneys I had no appetite and what food I ate did me no good, as it would ferment in my stomach, and cause gas to form. I dreaded every meal, as I suffered agony after eating. I was constipated, had headaches and dizzy spells, palpitation of the heart, my liver was torpid and sluggish, and I had dreadful pains in my kidneys and could hardly sit down at times. I had tried numbers of medicines, but none of them helped me until I heard of your medicine, Dreco, and that was the medicine that did the work in my case. I have no more trouble with my stomach and can eat anything without distress. I sleep well at night; my liver and kidneys are working well, and I am glad to state that Dreco has entirely relieved me."

Dreco is now sold by all up-to-date druggists throughout the country and is highly recommended in Albany by Albany Drug Co.—Advertisement.

Sight Hulk of Old "Santa Claus" Ship

(International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—The hulk of an old ship said to resemble the old Rouse Simmons, the "Santa Claus" ship which went down in a gale in 1912 with eighteen persons on board, has been reported by the S. S. Carolina. The remains of the old ship, believed to have been released by an artless caprice of nature, was sighted in Lake Michigan a few miles from Chicago.

First reports from the Carolina that the old weather-beaten and water-soaked hulk might be the old "Santa Claus" ship brought the coastguard to action, but the heavy mist hanging over the lake prevented locating the derelict.

It was thought that the old hulk might be a part of the missing Rouse Simmons, but since seven years have elapsed since the Christmas ship went down it was said that no ship could have floated about the lake during that time without having been sighted.

The Main Point.

Eve had formed the bad habit of running away, so to impress her fully with the danger of so doing, her father took her on his knee and told her the story of Charlie Ross—how he was coaxed away from his yard one day by a man who promised him some candy and he never came back to his parents. She listened intently, and at the close of the story she looked up and asked: "Well, did he get the candy?"

Railroad Man Gives Good Advice

"Several years ago I was under treatment of a stomach specialist for 3 months, 3 weeks of which were spent in a hospital. Another stomach specialist told me I had gall stones and that an operation was necessary. I did not want to have this. I lost 45 lbs. in weight. Talking with a brakeman one day he told me of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and since taking it I have gained 16 lbs. and am feeling fine. I am advising others to try it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and always the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. S. M. Thompson, Albany or Owl Drug Co., Decatur, and druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

SOMETHING MORE THAN PLAY

Crippled Soldier Pleasantly Surprised at Result of Work at Which He Amused Himself.

How a ring got a wounded soldier a new occupation in life is told by the federal board for vocational education, which is helping the handicapped men of the army, navy and marine corps get back into the work-a-day world.

A veteran of Belleau wood called upon the board. His left leg gone, he appeared listless and without hope. He sat talking to the adviser, now and then slowly turning a ring on his finger. The adviser, to get the man's confidence, asked to see the ring.

The man suddenly became animated. "I made that," he said. "Hammered it out of silver myself, and engraved those figures on the outside. Nothing but some playing of mine," he added. The adviser looked at the ring, noted the engraving, and said:

"How would you like to learn engraving?"

"Doing this?" said the soldier, fingering his ring. "Say, this ain't work—it's just play."

"Let's have a try at it," replied the adviser.

The federal board sent the man to learn engraving, and in a few months he qualified for a good job in a jewelry store.

Chinese College Girls.

The most picturesque school in Nan-king is Ginling college, a recently opened institution, operated by five boards, presided over by a faculty of eight and including 18 girls. As this is only the second year of operation, 18 is a goodly number. Last year there were hardly enough girls to go around. The college is housed for the present in a charming old "kung wuan" or official residence belonging to the estate of Li Hung Chang, and once occupied by one of his relatives. For Chinese women to come into such an inheritance, even by renting it, is enough to make anyone enthusiastic. Only two years of college work are done at present, but a year's work is being added over autumn, so that it will soon tax the eight teachers to keep the class work up to the high standard that has been decided upon.—Christian Herald.

Experts or Theorists—Which?

The packing industry is intricate, complex—far more so than the railroads or the telegraph.

Every day multiplying needs of society increase its problems and multiplying responsibilities demand more of it.

Highly trained experts, specialists of years' experience, thinkers and creative men, devote their lives, their energies, their activities, to solving the problems of the packing industry and meeting its widening duties.

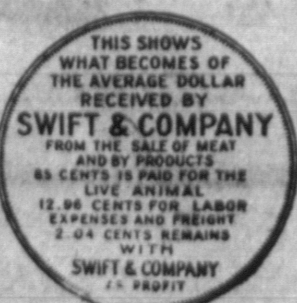

Swift & Company is not a few dozen packing plants, a few hundred branch houses, a few thousand refrigerator cars, and a few million dollars of capital, but an organization of such men. It is the experience, intelligence, initiative and activity which operates this physical equipment.

Can this intelligence, this experience, this initiative and creative effort which handles this business at a profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound from all sources, be fostered through the intervention of political theorists, however pure their purposes? Or be replaced by legislation? Does Congress really think that it can?

GERMAN COMMERCIAL AND WAR DEVELOPMENT BASED ON FORESTS

President of American Forestry Association Declares German Empire Was Built From Wealth of Its Woods.

(International News Service.)
BETHLEHEM, N. H. Sept. 5.—Pointing to the tremendous forest fires swept by fires this summer, Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry Association of Washington, today urged the foresters and the timberland owners to get together on a co-operative fire-protection plan as the first step toward a national forest policy.

"Germany built its empire and developed its wonderful military strength upon a financial foundation furnished by its forests," said Mr. Pack, in addressing the New England Forestry Conference, "and now the United States must decide upon a national forest policy in order to perpetuate its timber supply. We have no adequate forest policy now. The United States is far behind France, Great Britain, Germany, Japan and other nations in this respect.

"Bankrupt in the Napoleonic period, Germany," continued Mr. Pack, "found its only asset in its valuable timberlands and, by adopting a national forest policy based on producing timber as a crop, built the empire which so recently sought dominion over the entire world.

"In the United States we have only about one-fourth of its original forest, and this is now disappearing three times faster than it is being reproduced. We must, before it is all gone, provide for a timber supply for our future needs, and we can do so if you foresters will get together with the lumbermen and timberland owners and agree upon a practical, workable forest policy."

NOTED ARTIST TO SING FOR CHARITY IN THE MAGIC CITY

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 5 (Special).—Musical Alabama has been stirred by the announcement that Madame Schumann-Heink, acknowledged leader of American vocal artists, will sing at a special benefit concert at the Jefferson Theatre, Birmingham, Friday, September 26. The performance will be a 3 o'clock matinee.

Special interest is attracted to the concert because, so far as musical fans can recall no other artist of international prominence has ever come to an Alabama city before to sing for the benefit of some charity or institution.

The great contralto comes to Birmingham to sing at a concert at which she is hopeful that lovers of grand opera from all over the state will attend, because—it is for the benefit of a little girls school down at Brewton, Ala., and every penny taken in on the seat sale will be given to the school to defray its running expenses.

It all came about this way: More than a year ago, Madame was waiting between trains at a Chicago railroad station, and by accident began chatting with Major John D. Hill, an Alabama army officer from Brewton. In the course of the conversation the great artist was told of the Downside Industrial School at Brewton. She was told that this school will take the poorest girl in the state and give her equal educational advantages with the wealthiest without cost. The school for this reason, frequently runs behind financially, the major told her.

Upon learning this, the motherly heart of the artist was touched and she said as she left the officer: "I'll come to Alabama's chief city, bring La Forge, my own accompanist, with me, and give a concert that shall consist of the best numbers that I have for the benefit of this school."

Her appearance September 26 is the result of that promise. The Birmingham Civic Association is in charge of arrangements for the event. Seat sales have not begun, but for the benefit of out of town persons who will want to come to Birmingham for the matinee, the Civic Association will make reservations and buy the seats for those who request it.

Because of the immense popularity of the great singer, it is believed that only a small part of the crowd seeking admission will be able to get it, so, in compliance with the prima donna's wish that people from all over the state be given an opportunity to hear her, out of town people are given a chance to reserve seats even before the Birmingham theatergoers have the privilege. Write to the Birmingham Civic Association stating the seats you will need, and your wants will be taken care of and the seats will await your coming.

The sentiment attached to Madame Schumann-Heink's visit to Alabama will attract even a greater crowd, it is believed, than her own great reputation as an artist. It is thought remarkable that she should make a long journey to Birmingham, paying all of her expenses, in order to assist a school for poor girls. But she is doing exactly that and the Birmingham promoters of the scheme are determined that people in all parts of the state shall be given an equal opportunity with Birmingham people to hear her sing.

Pajama-Clad Judge Waits in Vain to Per- form Ceremony

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Aroused from their sleep at midnight and compelled to wait an hour to perform a marriage ceremony which never materialized, was the experience recently of Judge John J. Rooney and John H. Mack, Chief Deputy County Clerk. Dressed only in their pajamas and wearing the smile that comes with being called from peaceful slumber at twelve, the two officials waited in vain to officiate at a marriage ceremony which a half-dozen people sponsored and yet never was performed.

The Marriage Bureau was called at 10 o'clock, and a Mrs. Bluth in a frenzied voice inquired where she could get a marriage license. She was told to call County Clerk Sweitzer, but failing to locate the county clerk she appealed to Mr. Mack, deputy to the clerk. He agreed to issue the license.

Meanwhile, Judge Rooney was hurriedly summoned from his home, in pajama clad, the Judge and deputy stood by and patiently awaited the arrival of the prospective bride at groom.

Long after midnight the little nocturnal party was still standing by to save the prospective matrimonial ship which gave little promise of putting safely into the harbor of mutual happiness and contentment.

"THE SOURCE" SHOWS WOMEN LOVE BRAVE MEN: HATE COWARDS—DELITE FRIDAY

Photoplay Provides Wallace Reid With Excellent Role of Man Who Regains Himself.

The theory that women love brave men and scorn cowards is brought out vividly in "The Source," Wallace Reid's latest Paramount Picture. Mr. Reid portrays the role of Van Twiller Yard, a well-born young man, who has sunk low through indulgence in liquor and who is shanghaied to a Vermont lumber camp. A Swedish girl, Svea Nord, becomes interested in him, but a lumber-boss who wants to make a hit with the girl beats him up cruelly.

She is at first astonished, then scornful, when Yard proves too much of a coward to defend himself. But she does not realize that Yard's cowardice springs from physical weakness and too much liquor. Two months later he has redeemed himself and again comes to blows with the lumber boss, while the girl looks on. But this time he does up the boss in great shape.

Wallace Reid scores in the role of Van Twiller Yard and Ann Little is excellent as Svea Nord. James Cruze is Langlois, the lumber. The picture, which will be shown at the Delite theatre Friday, was directed by George McFord.

Your left foot is larger than your right,—in 99 cases out of 100. Science explains it in many ways; but we accept the easiest one, which is that we are a world of left-footed loungers. We lean against posts and door jambs, and we do most of our leaning on the left foot; consequently, through the years it has grown to support the weight that the lazy right foot doesn't. The next time you buy shoes, have your left foot measured first.

WANTS WORLD LEAGUE TO CONTROL THE SCIENTIFIC WAR DISCOVERIES

By FLOYD MACGRIFF,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—"The democracies of the world must see to it that international competition in scientific development and methods of warfare stops.

"Such things as tanks, war aeroplanes, poison gas, submarines and heavy artillery—death devices which the planet never knew of until this last holocaust of war—must be placed under complete direction of the League of Nations if there is to be world peace."

Those statements were made by Major Davies, M. P., financier, and one of the leading protagonists for development of world-wide organizations determined to enforce peace. He is one of the prime movers for assembling this Autumn an inter-allied meeting of democratic bodies which support the League of Nations idea. In an exclusive interview with the International News Service Major Davies sounded a warning against the development of a new militarism throughout the world, grouped about the new-war engines of destruction.

"If the democratic peoples of all nations are genuinely interested in preserving world peace, which is a job that will require no less intelligence and skill than conducting a war, they must by a mandate of universal public opinion, demand abandonment of the idea, now gaining ground fast, of international competition in scientific war methods."

STYLISH GIRLS INSULTED; POLICE CHIEF AFTER MASHERS

(International News Service.) CANTON, Ohio, Sept. 5.—Because a girl dresses stylishly, it is no reason she should be insulted.

Chief of Police Rabiet has declared war on mashers. "There are many pretty girls in Canton who dress stylishly," says the Chief, "and I am going to see that they are protected from insult."

TODAY

A Rich Country.

A Good English Bite.

A Clergymen's Strike.

A Pig Refrigerator.

(By Arthur Brisbane.)

Nitti, Prime Minister of Italy, urges his people to produce more, and the Italians courageously are going at the task of reconstruction following most ungrateful treatment by the Allies, whose defeat Italy prevented.

It is difficult for this country to understand conditions of poverty in Europe. Even England, only a few years ago the financial centre of the world, seems poor by comparison with the United States.

In all Great Britain there are only 143 individuals with an annual income of $486,866 and over. Think of that for poverty—fewer than a hundred and fifty Englishmen with an annual income of half a million or more!

You could find one hundred and fifty men with an income of a million a year lunching at the Bankers' Club in New York any day.

We are very rich in this country, but so was England not so long ago, and France. We need the advice about producing wealth and getting to work—earnest as much as Italy needs it.

On the battlefield, with cannons roaring, a cavalry horse will hastily nibble a bite of grass.

England seems to have learned something from the cavalry horse. She has just taken a nice bite in the gobbling up of Persia. The London Saturday Review says: "We seem to have obtained a tolerably complete protectorate over Persia for the loan of two million pounds."

It certainly was a cheap price. Old Persia goes into the British baggage wagon with Egypt and other countries. And the United States is considering an arrangement that would make it necessary for this country to send over men and spend money to handle the situation, if anyone tried to interfere with England in Persia.

Of all the victims of high prices, preachers are undoubtedly most poorly paid, most patient. One worm has turned. The Reverend J. R. Straton, Baptist, says: "Only a lingering sense of duty, altruism and service prevents the preachers of America from forming a union, calling a strike and telling the country to go to hell."

The preachers have reason to strike. But a clergyman's strike, it must be confessed, with shame, would probably disturb the community less than any other. Who would have thought, when actors were despised, not allowed burial in holy ground, that a day would come when a strike of actors would seem more important than a strike of clergymen? Even the grave diggers' strike seems more serious than the preachers' strike. A man can pray for himself, but cannot dig his own grave, when he needs it.

There was a time when people were deeply religious, when a strike of the clergy would have filled the world with terror and an expectation of the world's end. Consider the effect of excommunication in ancient days, when the King of England excommunicated with all strength of the church behind the boycott, could find no one to wait upon him or feed him. Or the case of the German Emperor trembling under excommunication, standing barefoot in the snow, asking forgiveness.

The world interests itself in that which is expensive or profitable. When negroes were slaves, millions of white men were interested in colored babies, their fathers and mothers, their health, their housing and feeding. They were worth a thousand dollars a piece when healthy and full grown.

Nobody pays much attention to colored babies now, they have no market quotation. But science and government combined have decided that something must be done for the pigs of the nation, old and young. In the Department of Agriculture, a genius has invented a "refrigerator for hogs" that appeals to the kind heart and the fat pocket.

You know the misery of a fat man in hot weather. Imagine the misery of a very fat pig, for the pig cannot perspire, all the heat stays in, there is no coolness caused by evaporation of perspiration at the surface.

That is why pigs hunt holes filled with disease breeding mud, developing cholera that kills off entire herds.

It did not make much difference when pork sold for seven cents a pound. It makes a difference now, with bacon selling as high as seventy-five cents. Each pig farmer is advised to build his refrigerator for the summer, a light frame covered with Canton flannel, burlap or duck. On top there is a pan of water with wicks leading from it. Capillary attraction takes the water out of the pan, down the wicks to wet the outside of the refrigerator. Evaporation causes the temperature to fall. And there is a cool, comfortable place in which the pig, growing fat without discomfort, can spend the summer, better than any mud hole.

If that invention should work out well, it might be more important to the public than some legislation now going on in Congress.

Young Lady's Search For Mate Excites Men

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 5.—A mysterious dame, who gives her address as Big Timbers, Mont., has the young men of this place very much excited.

She wants a Westmoreland County husband, she writes to the Mayor. Her photograph was enclosed.

Scores of local bachelors have entered the race for the hand of the young woman. Answering one letter written her, she says: "Speed up. I have more than a dozen letters from men in your county. So you must speed up in your correspondence. Your photograph looks mighty good, and I am greatly interested in you. I really think you might advance your claim by making a visit or two to our home."

PRIZE FISH YARN OF 1919.

(International News Service.)

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 5.—The champion "fish tale" for 1919 was brought to this city by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lovewell, who returned with their family from Lake Koronis, Minn., where they spent two months.

The family, consisting of the parents, two sons and a daughter, caught a total of 168 pike and bass, in addition to pickerels which they did not count. They showed a snap-shot with a catch of forty fish averaging two pounds each.
